Cutter Rushing To Aid Burning U.S. Freighter

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The freighter China Transport sent out a call for help today, saying a serious fire was raging in her No. 3 hold, filled with copra meal, and that she was trying to make port here from Anacapa Island, about 30 miles off shore. Twelve passengers are aboard.

The ship is operated by the Pacific Transport Line and is en route from Manila.

U.S. Coast Guard headquarters, which sent the cutter Blackthorn to the scene with fire-fighting equipment, said the China Transport had reported she was steaming at full speed, with the fire raging between decks just forward of the super structure. Long Beach agents for the China Transport indicated the fire was so serious the vessel would not be allowed in the harbor if it succeeded in reaching here, and that fire-fighting operations would have to be conducted beyond the breakwater.

Haddad Outstanding Canadian Athlete; Wins Crowe Trophy.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Eddie Haddad, 21-year-old boxer from Victoria, B.C., today was awarded the Crowe Memorial Trophy as the outstanding male athlete in Canada this year.

Haddad has had only one loss—a highly-disputed decision in the Olympic Games—in three years of amateur fighting.

The soft-spoken, black-haired, lightweight fighter, a supply assistant from H.M.C.S. Naden, Victoria, won in a poll of delegates attending the 55th annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada. Voting figures were not given, but it was announced he had won on a "clear majority over three other nominees."

Haddad, stationed at Esquimalt, had an outstanding ring record on the Pacific coast in 1948.

Prior to being selected for Canada's Olympic boxing team he captured the Vancouver Sun Golden Gloves crown, the Pacific Northwest lightweight championship and the B.C. title.

He was recently awarded the Sid Thomas Memorial Trophy as Victoria's outstanding athlete.

Rush Predicted For Hospital Beds Soon

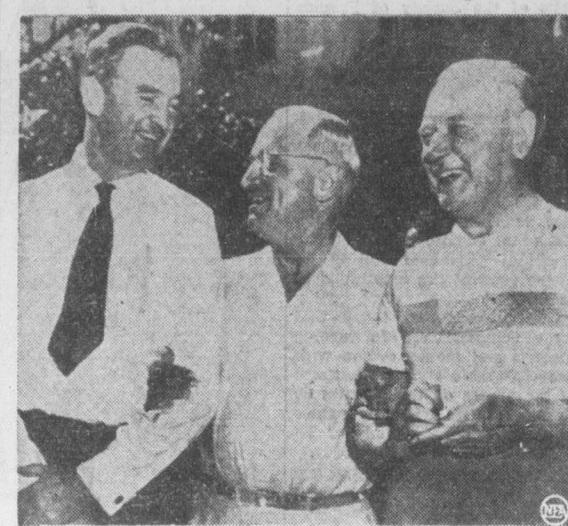

Are ailing citizens holding off from having hospital attention in anticipation of compulsory government hospitalization scheme which becomes effective Jan. 1?

Hospital authorities frankly admit they do not know.

They say they are "comfortably full" but expect a flurry of demands for beds after the new year.

"The situation is clouded at present because many persons covered by voluntary hospitalization schemes like the Blue Cross are coming in to avoid the expected rush when the govern-

Report $12,000,000 For New Freighters

QUEBEC (CP)—Le Solel said today in a newspaper story the Canadian government will spend $12,000,000 to expand its fleet of ships operating under the Transport Department.

The newspaper report followed a visit here Thursday by Transport Minister Chevrier for the keel-laying of a $2,273,000 Arctic patrol ship at the nearby Lauzon shipyards.

The newspaper reported the government plans to build a patrol ship for the Canadian West Coast and a ship for service between Canada and Newfoundland when the Old Colony becomes the 10th province.

Proposed construction also includes an Atlantic patrol ship and an Arctic exploration ship.

Ireland Denies Military, Economic Treaty Planned

DUBLIN (AP)—The government information office denied today a Paris report that Eire and Britain would negotiate a close military and economic alliance early next week.

"The report is completely devoid of even the slightest foundation," the office said. "No such negotiation is in contemplation, nor has the possibility of such an alliance been so much as suggested."

REDS PLACATED
DUBLIN (CP)—Deputy Sean MacEntee, former Minister of Local Government in the De Valera government, said in a speech Thursday night that the main purpose of the Republic of Ireland Bill—which severs Eire's last link with the Commonwealth—is to "placate the Communist element in the coalition."

He said the Communist element in the coalition had been "infuriated by Costello's (Prime Minister John A. Costello of Eire) Canadian speeches in which he promised this country would go to war against Russia should she attack Canada."

Date Of Rail Hearing Advanced 2 Days

Premier Byron Johnson is also planning to attend the final hearing.

I.L.A. Charges Halifax Dockers Strike-Breaking

HALIFAX (CP)—Longshoremen reported for work as usual here today, but conversation along the piers centred mostly on strike-breaking charges made Thursday by the president of the union's parent organization.

"We're between the devil and the deep blue sea"—a statement by one union official—seemed to sum up the general situation here.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, said in New York that the Cunard White Star line was deliberately using Halifax and the "threat of Canadian laws" to break the United States east coast strike.

(The Canadian labor department has informed the Halifax longshoremen that a work stoppage on the docks would mean a $100 fine for the union leader for every day the men are off the job, and a $1,000-a-day penalty for the union.)

LOOKED FOR SUPPORT

Referring to this port, Mr. Ryan said "we expected them (the Halifax longshoremen) to support us."

An emergency executive meeting of the Halifax Longshoremen's Association (A.F.L.), and affiliate of the I.L.A., was called immediately to discuss this development, but no official announcement was made.

Israel's Reply To U.N. Pleases Mediator Bunche

PARIS (AP)—Dr. Ralph Bunche, acting Palestine mediator, said today he regarded Israel's reply to the U.N. order to withdraw from the Negev area as indicating a willingness to comply with his order.

The Israeli reply received at U.N. headquarters today, pointed out that the Nov. 4 order by the Security Council on the Negev Desert region asked withdrawal only of those troops which had advanced after Oct. 14.

The Israelis said forces which entered the region after Oct. 14 had been withdrawn.

READY TO CONFEE

The Jews offered to consult with the truce mission's chief of staff on withdrawal of Israeli troops from parts of the coastal area northwest of the Negev as requested by the mediator.

Bunche said he found the Israeli reply "gratifying." It indicated a willingness on the part of Israel to accept in principle the Security Council's resolution.

General Eisenhower's own story of D-Day and the dramatic events that led up to it, are told tomorrow in a double installment of his "Crusade in Europe."

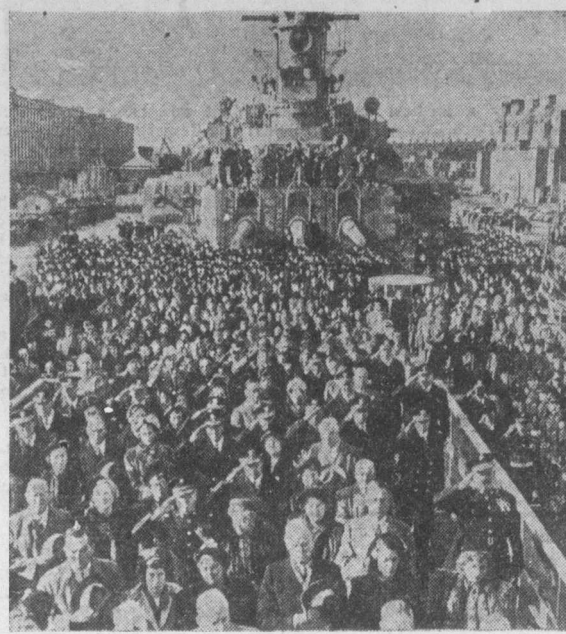

It will appear, copiously illustrated, in a double page spread, of an enlarged edition of the Victoria Times Magazine.

"Ike" tells of the vital decision he had to make to postpone the invasion by 24 hours, and of the luck that attended his postponement.

The Magazine also contains all the usual weekly features, including No. 3 of the schools series "What I Want to be When I Grow Up." This week it is the turn of the pupils of Royal Oak School.

The serious aspect of a declining birth rate, the use of the sun as an adjunct to home heating are other articles which will appear in the 10-page edition of tomorrow's Magazine.

New Respect For Chiang In China; War Tension Eased

NANKING (AP)—Tension eased in central China today as the government's news of a complete victory in the Battle of Su-chow gave fresh hope to the unwarmed capital.

The city obviously was impressed by the military spokesman's triumphant statement Thursday: "The battle for Su-chow can be considered as concluded."

People who had begun to talk of Chiang Kai-shek's possible abdication looked up to the generalissimo with new respect.

Few sources, however, expected the Communist commanders to take the reported setback without planning another fight to open the road to Nanking.

When this might happen was a subject of conjecture here. It might depend on the extent of Communist casualties and the drain on the supplies in the 10-day battle, and how long the Red commanders need to regroup their weary armies.

The weather was another factor—and a big one in view of the decisive part it played in the government's operations.

The clear days and moonlight nights favored government air blows against Communist troops deployed without cover on the exposed plains.

Overtime Provision For Christmas Rush

The Board of Industrial Relations today made arrangements for merchants of the Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver areas to work their staffs overtime during the Christmas rush.

A regulation under the Hours of Work Act provides that staffs may be worked two hours extra on Dec. 21 and Dec. 23. The employees must be paid at the rate of time and one-half for the overtime work.

At the same time the board has made provision that any extra help taken on during the Christmas rush, between Dec. 4 and Dec. 31, must be paid at the regular rate, rather than the learners' rate. The minimum wage for both male and female workers is 45 cents per hour.

Outside of the Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver areas, stores are permitted to work their employees three hours overtime on Saturday nights or the night before a holiday.

U.S. Air Veterans Offered To Chiang

SHANGHAI (AP)—Claire Chennault today relayed to President Chiang Kai-shek an offer by veterans of the 14th U.S. Air Force to form a volunteer air group to fight the Chinese Reds.

Chennault, retired U.S. major-general and wartime commander of the 14th, now runs an air transport company in China.

Oak Bay Considering Sharing Arena Costs

Oak Bay is taking into consideration the city's latest request for financial assistance from outside municipalities in the building of the Memorial Arena.

On motion of Ald. Waldo Skilling at a meeting of the City Council a few weeks ago it was decided to seek the financial support from the municipalities again, even though earlier requests had been rejected.

Oak Bay informed the city by letter today that the request had been referred to its finance committee by the municipal council.

Cost of the arena may reach $1,000,000 and as the rink will be used by people from all sections of Greater Victoria, aidmen feel it is only right that Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay pay a share of the cost of construction.

Russian Plans For One-Third Slash Defeated

PARIS (AP)—The United Nations' Assembly today rejected a Russian proposal for a one-third cut within a year in the armed forces of the Big Five powers, but adopted a western-backed resolution looking toward reduced world armaments.

The Assembly also voted down Russia's demand for an immediate ban on the atom bomb.

The vote against the section of the Soviet proposal calling for the one-third arms cut was 36 to 6. The Russian bloc voted with the Soviet Union for the section and 10 countries abstained.

The vote against the Atom bomb proposal was 37 to 6, with nine abstentions and the eastern states, as usual, in a solid bloc.

FURTHER STUDY

The western-supported resolution calls for further study of steps toward arms limitation.

Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, had told the Assembly during earlier debate he had not answered questions in the political committee as to how many soldiers Russia has under arms, and would not answer them now.

Vishinsky said that information would be supplied in due time to the international control organ which was suggested in his resolution. The Soviet resolution already had been rejected by the 58-power political committee, which had approved the western-supported resolution.

WOULD SUBMIT DATA

Vishinsky said the organ Russia suggested should receive all authorized data on armaments and Russia would be ready to submit this simultaneously with the other major powers if they agreed to such a plan.

Vishinsky declared the United States is building a western European system directed against Russia.

In addition, he charged, the United States is building up a Western European system directed against the Soviet Union.

The Russian spoke after John Foster Dulles, acting chief of the United States delegation had attacked the Soviet proposal for a one-third arms cut as "almost irresponsible" and a "real deception."

Coalition Cabinet In Belgium Quits; May Call Eyskens

BRUSSELS (AP)—Belgian Premier Paul Spaak's Socialist-Catholic coalition cabinet resigned today.

The coalition had been threatened with collapse after the resignation of Justice Minister Paul Struyve.

Struyve resigned Thursday after a parliamentary debate on his policy of clemency toward former pro-German collaborators.

The debate occurred after Struyve had commuted the death sentence of two pro-Nazi Belgians charged with being responsible for the deaths of several patriots during the German occupation. No vote was taken.

It is believed Spaak, a Socialist, would refuse to head a new government and that Finance Minister Gaston Eyskens, a leader of the Catholic Party, might be named premier.

U.S. Navy Claims It Owns 'World's Fastest Fighter'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Navy thinks it has the fastest fighter in the world.

$20,000 Fire Levels Chalet At Milne's Landing

Fire which broke out around five this morning totally destroyed the Bellevue Chalet, at Milne's Landing. Value of the building and contents, all devoured by the flames, is placed around $20,000.

There was no loss of life or injuries in the blaze.

It was a 60 x 40-foot one-story structure, which was opened less than two years ago by owner F. E. "Skipper" McFarlane.

J. Ward of the Sooke Hotel was the first to discover the blaze and sent in the alarm to the Sooke volunteer fire department. A crew of eight men under Deputy Fire Chief A. D. Brownsey attended.

When they arrived at 5.30 the entire main structure was enveloped in flames and it was impossible to save the place, which was a combination restaurant and dance establishment. The department was at the scene seven minutes after the alarm was sounded.

The firemen reported no one was on the premises when the fire started. Origin of the blaze is unknown.

Church Students Protest Shipment Of Arms To China

VANCOUVER (CP)—Student protest against the shipment of Canadian munitions to the Chinese Nationalist forces increased here today as United Church theological trainees at the University of British Columbia registered their disapproval.

The students said the shipment, now being loaded here aboard the Canadian freighter Islandside, was "irreconcilable with the spirit and implications of the teachings of Jesus Christ."

The Islandside, scheduled to sail today for Shanghai, has a reported cargo of airplane parts and R.C.A.F. Mosquito bombers consigned to the Chinese Nationalist air force.

Between 30 and 40 other students, members of the campus C.C.F. party and the Student Christian Movement picketed the downtown post office Thursday with posters bearing slogans such as "thou shalt not kill," "food, not weapons for China" and "L.P.P. students protest support of Chiang Kai-shek."

Police Still Seek Woman Attacker

While city detectives continue their round-up of women suspects in the case of the brutal attack on Mrs. Mary A. Attwood, 73, 1214 May Street, on Wednesday morning, the physician attending her at St. Joseph's Hospital reports she is making progress towards recovery.

"She is coming out of her shock," he said.

Mrs. Attwood's condition, however, is still in the critical stage from the head blows suffered in the surprise attack by an unknown woman assailant.

In response to an appeal by Insp. Harry Mercer, chief of detectives, for the woman who first discovered the injured widow, to see the police, Mrs. Emma Hines, 427 Superior Street, reported Thursday.

Insp. Mercer said that he was not able to get any information from Mrs. Hines his department did not already know.

However, police still wish to talk to any person who was in the vicinity of the rest room behind the City Hall between 9 and 10:45 Wednesday morning in the hopes they can give information that will help investigations.

Natural Laundry Solves Eskimos' Clothing Problem

The clothing and laundry problem does not bother the Eskimos of the Mackenzie River area, according to Maj. David L. McKeand, formerly superintendent of the Eastern Arctic and government representative in the Arctic Archipelago.

The Eskimos wear reindeer hides with the hair next to their skins, the hollow hair absorbing perspiration from the wearers' bodies. At night, the perspiration freezes in the garment when it is hung up, and the next day the Eskimo shakes it out and has a clean outfit.

This was just one of the many interesting features of life in the far north brought out by Maj. McKeand in an address to the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club Thursday night.

The speaker told how the supervised migration of reindeer from Alaska to the Mackenzie River area had been so successful that the original herd of 2,370 had now grown to more than 6,500.

WALRUS TEETH

The wearing of walrus teeth as souvenirs was started through an accident, Maj. McKeand claimed.

He said that while on a beach near Wakeham Bay in Northern Quebec some years ago, he took some walrus teeth from a skull, intending to try and determine why the teeth had cavities when the mammal ate no candy or soft foods, as far as he knew.

Thereafter, the Eskimos brought him and the Hudson's Bay post in the region bags of walrus teeth which they exchanged for half a pound of tea. The exchange was made more to humor the natives than anything else, and before long 1,400 pounds of walrus teeth were accumulated.

At the request of the company that he do something about the apparently worthless stock, Maj. McKeand said he suggested a Seattle curio shop might buy the teeth for souvenir sales.

The shop was interested, bought the 1,400 pounds of teeth and evidently did a roaring business, selling every one and then asking for more, the speaker concluded.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Britain, Eire May Discuss Military, Economic Pact

PARIS (CP)—Commonwealth leaders predicted today that Britain and Eire next year will begin negotiating a treaty for a close military and economic alliance.

Responsible informants, here for the United Nations' Assembly, said the talks are likely to begin soon after Prime Minister John A. Costello's bill to repeal Eire's External Relations Act becomes law. This bill will be the final step taking Eire out of the Commonwealth.

The Dail Eireann, first chamber of Eire's Parliament, Thursday voted Costello formal permission to introduce his bill. The measure would abolish a 1936 act that allows the King to accredit Eire's envoys to foreign countries and to sign international agreements.

Costello has gone on record as favoring close association between his country and the Commonwealth.

The Commonwealth informants, who declined to be identified, said British, Australian, Canadian and New Zealand representatives had assured Eire ministers informally they would like to continue close economic and political associations.

It is held likely that the question of Eire's entry into the five-power Brussels Alliance and, subsequently, into the planned North Atlantic defence system, will be discussed early this year.

15 More Ex-Nazi War Criminals Die

MUNICH (AP)—Fifteen more German war criminals were hanged today.

The executions brought to 73 the number hanged in the last six weeks for war-time murders of concentration camp prisoners and U.S. soldiers.

Since Oct. 15, at least nine persons have gone to the gallows every Friday at the Landsberg prison, where Adolf Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf."

Rightists Ask Vote Of Confidence For Cabinet Of France

PARIS (AP)—The French cabinet today gave Premier Henri Queuille permission to ask the National Assembly for a vote of confidence.

Queuille said he would go before the parliament next Tuesday to ask approval of the way his cabinet throttled the Communist-ordered strikes that cost France 9,000,000 tons of coal in seven weeks.

The cabinet meeting also approved a speech Queuille will make in winding up the Assembly debate on the issue of the strikes.

During the debate, Interior Minister Jules Moch said orders for France's 335,000 miners to quit had come from Moscow.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle told a press conference later that if Moch's assertions were true, the government should dissolve the Communist Party.

The move for a vote of confidence came as Communist labor leaders ordered a 24-hour strike today of merchant marine officers, in what is expected to be a Communist attempt to paralyze all French ports.

A general strike of dock workers, with no time limit, has been called for Monday and the merchant marine may join it.

A possible trouble spot was Dunkerque, where 2,000 dock workers who jumped the gun on the strike, have barricaded themselves in the port area. An estimated 3,000 troops, many of them Moroccans, have been rushed there.

Court Hears Wied Deny Attack On Wife With Knife

Jacob E. Wied, 38, standing trial for his life on a charge of murder, today reiterated his denial in Assize Court that he attacked his wife, who was found bleeding from a knife wound in their one-room suite, 1025 Yates Street, July 17.

The prisoner said he found his wife bleeding after she screamed while he was preparing supper. He said she never told him what had happened or how she received the wound.

Under cross-examination by Crown counsel, W. H. M. Haldane, the accused could give no explanation with regard to broken crockery on the floor. He also said he did not know how blood got on the chesterfield chair.

Wied was asked why he did not call a doctor sooner when he found his wife bleeding.

According to the prisoner, he did not think his wife's condition serious at the time.

Wied, who also denied handling the knife found in the room, said he did not know how the knife was found partly concealed under his blood-soaked shirt.

According to the evidence of the prisoner, he was returning from the bathroom when he heard his wife cry out. He said when he reached the room his wife was sitting near the end of the couch and leaning against the wall.

He said he asked her what was wrong but she did not answer. He continued to prepare dinner on a gas plate when his wife began to call him. When he turned around his wife was getting off the couch, he said.

Wied said that he sat his wife down on the couch. He opened her sweater and noticed blood and then got water and cloths to stop the bleeding.

"I asked her what happened," he said. "I never got an answer."

According to Wied there was no argument on the day in question.

The case is expected to go before the jury tonight.

Americans Visit Rotary Luncheon; Astronomer Speaks

Highlight of Thursday's Rotary Club meeting at the Empress Hotel was the annual visit of Port Angeles Rotarians.

Eleven members and their wives were on hand in the exchange of visits carried out every year between the cross-strait cities. They were introduced by H. H. Hankins, president of the American club.

Mayor P. E. George, who becomes plain Rotarian Percy when he enters the meetings, gave a welcome on behalf of the city with a brief address about the friendly spirit between the United and Canada.

Mrs. Marion Campbell, accompanied by Charles Palmer, sang two selections, one in Italian, and the other, on the lighter side, "Why Do I Love You?"

ASTRONOMER SPEAKS
The meeting concluded with a talk, illustrated by slides, by Dr. J. A. Pearce, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here, on his trip to Zurich, Switzerland, this year to attend the International Astronomical Union Conference.

Dr. Pearce outlined the history of the union, formed in 1910 by George Ellery Hale who later was responsible for the building of the 200-inch telescope on Mount Palomar, California. The telescope, largest in the world, is named after him, Dr. Pearce pointed out.

He gave a word-picture of the gathering of 250 astronomers from 31 nations, the first since 1938. Following this slides depicting the conference and of Zurich and its nearby observatory were shown.

First Winter Blast

KANSAS CITY, Kas. (AP)—The first solid blast of wintry weather—snow, wind and cold rain—plagued parts of the west and Midwest today.

A storm, accompanied by gale-like winds, left a covering of snow from southwestern Minnesota down through southeastern South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas to the Oklahoma Panhandle.

Highway travel was hazardous in many sections. Bus schedules were disrupted and communications lines were down. Some schools were closed.

The storm centre in from eastern Colorado Wednesday night, lingered over Kansas yesterday and was moving slowly northeastward today.

18 Horses Die In Fire

SOUTH PORTLAND, Me. (AP)—Eighteen horses perished when a spectacular fire destroyed the T. Ledge riding stable's barn early today. A stable man who slept in the barn escaped safely.

THE TRUCULENT KREMLIN

RUSSIA'S ATTITUDE TOWARD THE Berlin question is a threat to the peace of Europe and the world. Stalin evidently is adamant in his insistence that unless the Kremlin's policy is accepted by the western powers he will not countenance the lifting of the present fantastic blockade. To his totalitarian mind, the elimination of the costly procedure of taking succor to two and a half million Germans by the air route is out of the question—until he can get precisely what he and his fellow members of the all-powerful Politburo want. In other words, the authorities in Moscow obviously have made up their minds to keep the whole world on tenterhooks, to block every decent approach to plans which have as their object the composition of those differences that are hindering the realization of the hopes inherent in the United Nations Charter—the document, by the way, to which Stalin's representatives at San Francisco appended their signatures on behalf of the Soviet Union more than three years ago.

Regardless of the doubtful procedure which Secretary-General Trygve Lie and General Assembly President Herbert Evatt adopted to try to bring order out of chaos as far as the Berlin impasse was concerned, these two extremely able officials of the United Nations acted in good faith—even as President Truman did when he proposed to send his own emissary to talk to Prime Minister Stalin in Moscow. But it is becoming increasingly apparent that the man who has set his mind upon trying to control not only the destinies of nearly 200,000,000 Russians, but of a large part of the outside world as well, cares not one jot or tittle about what his conduct produces. He knows what it is costing Great Britain and the United States to maintain the "air-lift." He ought to know, or probably does not care to remember, what it cost these two western democracies to furnish him with vital military equipment after the late and unlamented Adolf Hitler had torn up the document to which Molotov and von Ribbentrop had attached their signatures in Moscow in the August of 1939. In 1941, of course, it was a case of "the Devil was sick—the Devil a monk would be," while now "the Devil was well," and "Devil a monk was he."

What is causing so many law-abiding citizens in various parts of the world so much concern, moreover, is the activity of those allegedly intelligent folk who roll their eyes to high heaven every time the Soviet Union or the name of Stalin is mentioned. These are the mischief makers—organized or unorganized—the members of our society who collect big salaries under the dispensation of a much-maligned capitalistic system, and who, wittingly or unwittingly, are making their own peculiar contributions to the Stalinist policy which demands settlement of the German question in strict conformity to the rigid Communist formula. And that formula, in essence, presupposes the "green light" for the technique of world revolution.

What can be done about this grave problem so long as the Kremlin maintains its sinister attitude is something which will have to be tackled in all its aspects without delay. If it is necessary to repeat the warning to the Soviet Union that the men in charge of its affairs seem bent on war, that they refuse to listen to reason, then it would seem that some counter formula will have to be applied in order that the Russian people themselves can be apprised of what may be in store for them within the foreseeable future.

LESSON FOR NEW GROUPS

SOME OF THE MENNONITES WHO left Canada in protest against the manner in which worldliness had begun to intrude into their affairs, through association with their neighboring Canadians, have returned to the Dominion. Extreme hardships and bickering among emigrants who went to Paraguay have persuaded them to abandon, for the time at least, their plans to join a new colony removed from urban civilization in the South American Republic.

The rigors of pioneering life in a country which apparently had less amenities than they presumably believed it to have were doubtless a discouraging feature. Moreover, illness has claimed some victims among those who left the prairies last summer. It would appear, moreover, from news reports, that the return of a relatively few of the emigrants indicates no wholesale movement back to Canada of the members of this sect.

The unusual decision of the Mennonites who have gone to South America suggests a lesson for those new settlers who are coming to Canada in national groups at this time. The sectists preferred to keep themselves apart from the stream of life in this Dominion. Their spiritual motives may have been of the highest, but their refusal to be assimilated represented a negative approach to the procedure of becoming citizens of a new and free land.

No honest Canadian wishes to see newcomers throw overboard all the traditions and folkways of the countries from which they come. Many of the characteristics they bring with them are highly desirable, adding to the sum total of Canadian culture and nationhood. But unless such peoples integrate themselves into our society, those benefits cannot be extended. In isolation particular traits can lose their virtue, be crystallized into a form of ritualism which makes the communities that observe them strangers. Declining to accept Canadian ways, such communities can become unacceptable to Canadians, and frictions occur.

On the other hand, the sons and daughters of many Mennonites in this country have won for themselves the high esteem of their fellow citizens, have conformed to usual behavior practices here and are among the best examples of our new Canadians. They are part of the warp and woof of this country, they make their constructive contributions to its development and they reap, in consequence, ample rewards.

ROAD TO ALBERNIS

RESIDENTS OF THE ALBERNIS WOULD be something more than human if they were not deeply concerned by the isolation imposed upon them when Angel Rock crashed onto the highway on the shore of Cameron Lake and left the twin communities without road communications. That accident has underscored the transportation difficulties experienced there in recent years, when washouts have either stopped or seriously checked vehicular traffic from other parts of the island to the head of the canal.

It would be a fine thing for the Albernis if they had alternative routes over which to send cars and trucks. But when residents use the vehement expressions of Mr. G. F. McInnes: "It's about time the government woke up and gave us another road, even if it's to Cumberland," they should recognize several facts. Roads cost money. The highway into the Albernis has been receiving extensive treatment during the year. When completed it should be one of the best in the province. The money spent on it might, conceivably, have been divided up to assist in the construction of an alternative outlet. But if it had been so split, the main highway would not have been given the improvement it received.

The government, moreover, does not secure its money from a nifty little counterfeiting plant in the basement of the Parliament Buildings. It acquires its revenues from the people of this province. If a certain amount is available for roads leading into Alberni, do the citizens there want a thoroughly good highway, or two bad ones for the same price? Neither the government nor the Department of Public Works can be blamed for acts of God. They should not be unduly criticized for situations beyond their control. Eventually, no doubt, the Albernis and other communities in British Columbia will be amply served by highways that furnish alternative routes—just as soon as the people of this province are prepared to pay for them.

'EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS'

IN HIS REPLY TO OPPOSITION LEADER Winston Churchill's attack on the Labor Government for its steel nationalization plans, Mr. J. H. Jones, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Supply, has, we believe, used an unfortunate phrase. The bill for nationalization, he said, gives an opportunity for full efficiency in the industry because, in the future, efficiency "will literally be everybody's business." It is scarcely true to cite the cynical rejoinder that what is everybody's business becomes nobody's business. On the other hand, democracy in this community is "everybody's business"; which probably accounts for the fact that so many fail to discharge their democratic duties in the simple and fundamental practice of balloting at civic elections.

NOT THIS YEAR

IT IS PERHAPS A FITTING COMMENTARY on the state of the world today that the Norwegian Nobel Prize committee has announced that no Nobel Peace Prize will be awarded this year. Although awards will be made in medicine, literature, chemistry and physics, the endeavor that is uppermost in the minds of most of the peoples of the world has apparently not been sufficiently advanced during the past year to merit acknowledgement. This will come as no surprise to all who follow the development of international relations as revealed in the daily press. But it could raise some question among future historians who may be astonished that the time of greatest need did not bring forth the greatest effort.

It seems incongruous to talk of peace prizes when the world is rearming as quickly as possible, when full-scale wars already rage in several countries, and when the great international round table for peaceful solution of difficulties has been converted to use as a sounding board for hate propaganda. No, it is not a good year for peace prizes—but for the man who would win one there probably has never been so great an opportunity.

WE WONDER

THERE IS SOMETHING WARMING about the story of the young Brighton policeman who was fired after he reprimanded the mayor of a neighboring town for driving in the wrong direction down a one-way street. The working of petty bureaucracy that resulted in the bobby's dismissal raised such a storm of protest all over Britain that the case went to the Home Office and the Brighton Council's action was reversed. Newspaper editorials and thousands of letters denouncing the treatment the policeman received gave the incident national prominence. Officialdom could do little in the face of such a demonstration, and the power of an aroused and righteous public opinion was made plain. In the midst of congratulating the people of Britain on this exhibition of civic consciousness, however, a little question intrudes—wonder what would have happened to the bobby if he had worked in Stalingrad?

Last Republican

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
From Washington

SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT is one of those exceptional politicians who are also symbols. He stands for old-school United States Republicanism as George W. Norris used to stand for American progressivism, and Henry Wallace now stands for the moonstruck Left. It is more than ordinarily significant, therefore, that a good many of his colleagues think Taft may abandon the Senate Republican leadership in the next session, and perhaps even retire from the Senate when he comes up for reelection in 1950.

TAFT DID MOST of the thinking and most of the homework for the Republican Senatorial rank and file of the 80th Congress. Thus the end of his leadership would be a major event in any case. If he is really considering a progressive withdrawal from active politics, his decision may be taken as marking the end of an era of American life.

It must be added at once that Taft left this country for his European trip without disclosing his plans. No one here knows for certain what he proposes to do in the peculiar new circumstances created by President Truman's victory, for which Taft was even less prepared than most. None the less, there are several different reasons why this remarkable man, one of the strongest personalities in American public life, might now choose to leave the political stage on which he has long played such a conspicuous part.

IN THE FIRST PLACE Taft's term of service as chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee is drawing to a close. He cannot continue even as a member of the policy committee without a change in the Republican conference rules. And if he seeks the formal title of Minority Leader, in succession to Wallace H. White of Maine, he will be strongly challenged by a considerable group of younger Republican Senators.

The first war whoops of rebellion against Taft have already come from Senator George Aiken of Vermont and others of his group. But in addition to these men who have always fought him, Taft will now be opposed by a much larger group of Senators like Knowland of California and Lodge of Massachusetts, who have perhaps reluctantly consented to his leadership in the past.

THEIR THESIS is that the election was a popular disavowal of the Taft policies. They have candidates for the leadership who would enjoy strong support—Lodge and Knowland are themselves the most obvious possibilities. And their moderate-progressive Republicanism is now close to being the dominant school of thought in the Senate.

This is of course crucial. By the defeat of such Senators as Brooks of Illinois and Revercomb of West Virginia, the whole color of Senate Republicanism has been radically altered. The men of the Taft school were in the driver's seat before. Now the Republicans are divided almost exactly evenly between the two groups, and the men of the older tradition have lost their self-confidence.

IF TAFT DECIDES to make the fight to hold his place, he is quite likely to be beaten. If he consents to accept the position of one Senator among many, the irresponsible Kenneth Wherry will undoubtedly bid for the leadership. But Wherry's defeat seems virtually assured. On the whole, it seems likely that the new pattern of Senate Republicanism will crystallize around Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, succeeding Taft as chairman of the policy committee, and either Lodge or Knowland, taking White's vacant place as Minority Leader.

As to whether Taft will seek re-election to the Senate in 1950, the Senator has plenty of time to make up his mind. Yet he is fairly likely to be opposed by Ohio's new Governor, Frank Lausche, an exceedingly strong Democratic candidate against whom he would have a hard battle. And while one of Taft's faults as a politician is his habit of going out of his way to seek a fight, the election must have made him wonder whether the game is worth the candle after all.

THIS, FOR TAFT, must be the central problem. He set out, in 1938, to rebuild the Republican Party as it used to be. No one has worked harder, or has shown more character and determination. Yet his whole effort has ended in flat failure all the same. If the election means anything, it means that the electorate will never again support the kind of Republican Party that ruled this country from the death of Abraham Lincoln until the election of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Taft has little patience with the new-fangled Republicanism of Vandenberg, Lodge and Knowland. It would be logical for him to consider bowing out. And if he does so, the older Republicanism will lose its last articulate, respectable and intellectually powerful advocate.

MEANWHILE, whatever Taft's choice may be, the mere fact that he has a choice to make speaks volumes about the probable character of the 81st Congress. The new Congress may contain many survivors from the old, but as the move for a new Republican leader clearly suggests, they are going to behave rather differently this time.

Looking Over Another Fence

China Presents An Emergency

By JAMES THRASHER from New York

WE MUST "stick our neck out" and give "affirmative aid" to the Chinese Nationalist government, says Roger D. Lapham, E.C.A. chief in China, if that country is to be saved from incorporation into the pattern of world Communism.

OUTLOOK BLEAK

The Chiang government has lost industrial Manchuria, and North China faces a similar fate. There are resignations and discontent in Chiang's own party, and apparently for good reason. Inflation is uncontrolled and seemingly uncontrollable. Business is at a standstill. Food is scarce. The military outlook is as bleak as in the Japanese war, and the economic and political prospects are even gloomier.

All but $15,000,000 of the $125,000,000 that Congress allotted for Chinese aid is used up.

Next Time

Montreal Star
Newspapers are now saying they won't believe a public opinion poll again. But, come next election, we know few reporters who would dare, in spite of all his personal belling and door-knocking and leg-work, to set up his own judgment against that of the scientifically constructed and highly expensive polls.

There were apparently several newspapers who did some real polling on their own, just before the election, and the results indicated a swing to Truman. They didn't like to publish the results, not because they were owned by Republicans, but because they were modest people, overawed by the scientific panoply of the organized polls.

This may seem weak-kneed and all that, but it's very human.

The Push Button Dream

By PETER EDSON from Washington

IN their spare time, government employees have a lot of fun kidding their superiors. Let some big bureaucrat or brass announce a policy that doesn't make sense, and sure enough, the civil servants will start writing confidential, satirical memos to each other, making fun of the boss in goofy gobbledygook.

KIDDING THE TROOPS

One such memo that has been going the rounds in the Pentagon building where Army, Navy and Air Force have their headquarters, is a fake transcript of an imaginary press conference with an aviation general. It is carefully stamped "Top Secret." Understand, it never took place. But here are its highlights:

Question—General, what are your plans for the next war?
Answer—There won't be a next war. When all the other nations hear about our plans, they won't dare to start a war.

Q—Well, what are the plans?
A—First of all, we will restrict our offensive to the air. By fabricating an overwhelming offense, we can ignore the defense. This can be achieved by dreadnaughts of the air. We refer to these as "airnaughts."

Yet shipment of the supplies which the $110,000,000 bought is only now getting under way. The U.S. government has approved a $5,000,000 purchase of arms by China, but one official has said that this new supply may not even be enough to replace the arms lost to the Communists in Manchuria.

That is not a very pretty setup for gambling more millions on the disintegrating Nationalist forces and their government. Yet there does not seem to be any other solution except to pay our money and take our chance. It is a matter of self-interest. The salvation of China from the Soviet sphere means Asia's salvation and, eventually, the saving of American lives and perhaps American liberty. It is a gamble worth taking, in spite of the odds.

Mr. Lapham not only urges affirmative aid but says that we must "take full responsibility for that aid, control it, and see how it is spent, both economically and militarily."

NOT INEXHAUSTIBLE

All this would add considerably to the burden of American taxpayers who already are pouring money and goods into a barricade against world Communism. Neither the money nor the goods are inexhaustible, and some day a stopping place will be reached. But China is not the place to stop.

China must be helped, and "affirmative aid" is the way to help her. It would be as useless to continue the uncertain policy of the past three years as it would be to abandon China entirely—as useless, and considerably more costly. But the how much and when of affirmative aid must still be decided. And the "who to" is important. It is fairly obvious that Chiang Kai-shek has failed to establish and maintain a strong central government, using U.S. funds and supplies to best advantage.

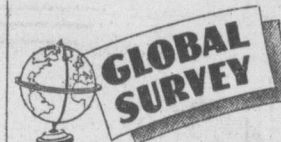

Indeed, further aid to Chiang has been described as "Operation Rat-hole." But the Chiang government may not last long. It may well fall soon and be succeeded by a group of Chinese liberals in whom it can put more confidence. In that case, it may not be "sticking our neck out" quite so far to give further "affirmative aid" to China.

IMMEDIATE PROBLEM

In any case, the Chinese problem is not simply one for the new Congress. It is a problem for today and tomorrow. It is a problem for bipartisan action which may put the greatest strain yet on the unity of bipartisan foreign policy.

Sinister Tin

The Times of London
It would be, to say the least, premature to attach undue political significance to the discovery by a Yorkshire housewife of an old baseball cap in a half-crown tin labelled "American dried eggs." The Ministry of Food, the M.C.C.—to say nothing of the committee of Yorkshire's own County Cricket Club—and M.L.S. are all taking the matter calmly. Nevertheless, there is something rather odd about it. It is difficult, nowadays, to open a tin without finding that it contains a substitute for something, but the substitute is generally a substance which can without too much casuistry be described as edible; the chances are, indeed, that we have seen photographs of some politician or other actually eating the stuff with every appearance of glee. The succulence of the sneek is a theme to which Mr. Strachey and Dr. Summers revert with almost maudlin enthusiasm. But nobody has yet told us to eat old baseball caps.

ULTIMATE control of the German Ruhr, industrial keystone of continental Europe, is providing one of the toughest issues to be settled by Britain, the United States and France.

Twice now the Ruhr, with its wealth of iron and coal, has been the arsenal of an aggressive Reich engaged in world war. The Allies have sworn that never again shall Germany be able to utilize the treasure of the Ruhr in this manner.

SO IMPORTANT

However, the Ruhr is so important to the rest of western Europe that its strength must be restored. Germans must work the coal mines and you can't get full production from sullen workers. They must have inducement, and so Britain and the United States have decided that one incentive would be eventual operation of the industries by the Germans themselves—with proper military controls, of course.

But France, thrice overrun by German armies in seven decades, is insisting on international operation of the Ruhr. She is afraid to let Germany control an asset which is a potential war threat.

France's Gen. Charles de Gaulle says the decision to turn the Ruhr mines and mills back into German hands is "the gravest decision made so far during the 20th century." He adds:

"England and America flatter themselves they can make something out of the Reich to oppose Russia. Perhaps they can. But perhaps they can't. Hitler didn't have any difficulty in reaching an accord with Russia when he wanted to dominate Europe."

DISURBING THOUGHT

That's a disturbing thought, and, knowing France well, I should say the average Frenchman would agree largely with de Gaulle. They haven't forgotten how Hitler tore up the Versailles treaty in 1936 and goose-stepped his troops into the Rhineland.

So one can understand France's present fears. However, she will have to consider the alternative to the American-British proposal: failure to rehabilitate the Ruhr quickly may cause a collapse of the Marshall Plan on which the economic recovery of western Europe depends.

WHY WAIT?

Washington Post
Senator Barkley has let it be known that when he drops the toga of party leadership and takes up the gavel in the Senate on January 20, he hopes to be a working Vice President. Just what he will do in addition to presiding over the Senate is not yet clear. It would be surprising, however, if the President did not take advantage of Mr. Barkley's high standing among his senatorial colleagues to cement the good relations between the White House and Capitol Hill that the election appears to have established.

JUST CLAIM

Toronto Star
The Canadian merchant navy veterans are continuing their campaign to secure some of the benefits the army, navy and air force veterans are receiving: pensions due to injuries, medical and dental treatment, housing and small land holdings advantages, business and professional loans, educational grants, civil service preference and so on. Something substantial should be done for them at the next session of parliament. Let no one say that Canada cannot afford it. Canada cannot afford to perpetuate an injustice.

TRUMAN AT HIS BEST

Winnipeg Free Press
Mr. Truman's attitude of mind in victory is wholly admirable. There is in it no exultation, no boasting and no malice. He refuses to punish any members of his party who bolted from him last summer, or failed to throw themselves into the election campaign because they thought his cause hopeless. After some weeks when he was mainly a party leader on the stump he emerges as the leader of the whole people—and with a new power, which he never possessed before, as a president who has been elected by his own efforts in the most extraordinary personal triumph of modern times.

Metchisin Farmers Hear Address On Potato Diseases

LUXTON — Cause, treatment and eradication of potato diseases were outlined by E. Bewell, inspector of seed potatoes for the Department of Agriculture, in a talk to the Metchisin Farmers' Institute meeting, held in Luxton Hall.

Mosaic and black rot are the most common diseases, Mr. Bewell said, adding that most usual cause for scales on potatoes was the presence of burnt alder wood in the soil. Crop rotation, acid soil and planting of cover crops immediately after the early potatoes have been lifted, were advocated by the speaker.

He warned that if diseased potato tops were noted, they should be cut and destroyed immediately so as not to infect the other potato plants. Potatoes should be stored right after digging and not left in contact with the soil, he said.

After much testing the Great Scott variety of potato seemed to be the most suitable for this district as it has proved to be most free from disease, Mr. Bewell told the meeting. Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute members served refreshments.

The chief magistrate pointed out the Mayor's Fund for food parcels for Britain which he inaugurated, was abandoned in favor of the wider and more unified U.E.F.B., and he urged citizens to give the fund every support.

$500 Fine, Costs For Hallowe'en Shot

In default of payment, Reiber was ordered to serve six months in prison. The youths told the court they had used a noisemaking device on a window at Reiber's dwelling and then ran to the road with some companions. Reiber said he fired two shots from a shotgun, but pointed the weapon to the sky. Removal of shotgun pellets from Quarmby's back arm and hand others from his companion, Williams, was described by Dr. J. J. Tassin.

CRUSADE IN EUROPE

This is a condensed serialization of Dwight D. Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe." It contains highlights of the book to be published November 22, 1948, by Doubleday & Company. Copyrighted by Doubleday & Company, Inc.

'Overlord' Expanded Causing One Month's Delay In Invasion

XIII

I left the United States on Jan. 13 to undertake the organization of the mightiest fighting force that the two western Allies could muster. On the evening of the second day I was back in London. Now began again the task of preparing for an invasion, but by comparison with the similar job of a year and a half earlier, order had replaced disorder and certainty and confidence had replaced fear and doubt.

Immediate subordinates included Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, Lt.-Gen. Omar Bradley, General Sir Bernard Montgomery, Lt.-Gen. Carl Spaatz, and Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay, all tested battle leaders and all experienced in the problems of developing real allied unity in a large operation. Air Chief Marshal Sir Trafford Leigh-Mallory was assigned to the Allied forces, with the title of Air Commander in Chief.

Our team acquired an important member with the arrival of George Patton, whose transfer from the Mediterranean I had asked. Sometimes he would spend the evening with me at my quarters, and though this usually involved the certainty of sitting up till the wee hours of the morning, conversation with him was always so stimulating that it was difficult to remember that the work day began before dawn when operating under double day-light saving time.

Patton Gloried in Fantastic Stories

I made a particular point of directing George to avoid press conferences and public statements. He had a genius for explosive statements that rarely failed to startle his hearers. He had so long practiced the habit of attempting with fantastic pronouncements to astound his friends and associates that it had become second nature with him, regardless of circumstances.

A speech he made to an American division in England.

LT.-GEN. FREDERICK MORGAN.

"Overlord" was planned by a staff under Lt.-Gen. Frederick Morgan of Great Britain. When it was decided to increase the scope of "Overlord," Morgan had to revamp the scheme and this caused a month's postponement. Morgan, who was knighted by the King, later became senior member of the Unrra staff.

can division shortly after his arrival in the United Kingdom caused more than a ripple of astonishment and press comment, and I well knew that it would be far easier to keep him for a significant role in the war if he could shut off his public utterances. He promised faithfully to do so.

Later in the spring, however, another storm broke around his head. Before a British gathering he expressed indiscreet and inappropriate opinions about the need for Great Britain and America to combine to run the world after the victory was won.

Because the memory of the Sicilian slapping incident was still fresh in the public mind the statement, widely publicized, attracted far more attention than it would otherwise have done. His public critics were confirmed in their conviction that he was totally unsuited to command an army.

For the first time I began seriously to doubt my ability to hang on to my old friend, in whose fighting capacity I had implicit faith and confidence. However, my concern was not so much for his particular statements, which were the object of criticism at home, as it was for his broken promise with the resultant implication that he would never improve in this regard.

Marshall Leaves Patton Up to "Ike"

Investigation quickly revealed two points which influenced my decision. The first of these was that in advance of the meeting Patton had refused to make any speech and had merely, under the insistence of his hosts, risen to his feet to say a word or two in support of the purpose of the particular gathering.

The second point was that he had been assured that the meeting was a private one, with no reporters present, and that no information concerning its details would be given to anyone.

In the meantime the incident had become one for an exchange of cablegrams with the War Department, but as usual the Secretary and the Chief of Staff left final decision to me, to be based completely upon my judgment as to the needs of battle.

During my investigation George came to see me and in his typically generous and emotional fashion offered to resign his commission so as to relieve me of any embarrassment. When I finally announced to him my determination to drop the whole matter and to retain him as the prospective commander of the Third Army, he was stirred to the point of tears. At such moments General Patton revealed a side of his make-up that was difficult for anyone except his intimate friends to understand. His remorse was very great, not only for the trouble he had caused me but, he said, for the fact that he had vehemently criticized me to his associates, when he thought I might relieve him. His emotional range was very great and he lived at either one end or the other of it. I laughingly told him, "You owe us some victories; pay off and the world will deem me a wise man."

CHURCHILL VISITS PARATROOPERS SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND—With General Dwight D. Eisenhower explaining the use and operation of equipment, Prime Minister Winston Churchill inspects an airborne unit at its base. The airmen staged one of the largest mass parachute jumps ever attempted in the United Kingdom to show British leader how good they were.

Two considerations, one of them decisive in character, combined to postpone the target date of the invasion from May to June. The first and important one was our insistence that the attack be on a larger scale than that originally planned by the staff assembled in London under Lt.-Gen. Frederick Morgan.

Another factor that made the later date a desirable one was the degree of dependence we were placing upon the preparatory effort of the air force. An early attack would provide the air force with only a minimum opportunity for pinpoint bombing of critical transportation centres in France, whereas the improved weather anticipated for the month of May would give them much more time and better opportunity to impede the movement of German reserves and demolish German defenses along the coast line.

ADMIRAL MOUNTBATTEN

In 1942 Admiral Mountbatten suggested "If port are not available we may have to construct them in pieces and tow them in." Eisenhower says the suggestion was greeted with hoots and jeers but two years later it had become a reality.

The virtual destruction of critical points of the main roads and railroads leading into the selected battle area was a critical feature of the battle plan. Nevertheless, acceptance of the later date was disappointing. We wanted all the summer weather we could get for the European campaign.

Along with the general plan of operations we thoroughly considered means of deceiving the enemy as to the point and timing of attack. Our purpose was to convince him that we intended to strike directly across the Channel at its narrowest point, against the stronghold of Calais. The complementary attack against southern France had long been considered—by General Marshall and me, at least—as an integral and necessary feature of the main invasion across the Channel. The United States was at that time committed to offensive action in the Pacific and the necessary additional craft could not be diverted from that theatre.

In the fact of this, General Montgomery proposed the complete abandonment of the attack on southern France, which then had the code name of Anvil. He wrote to me on Feb. 21, 1944: "I recommend very strongly that we now throw the whole weight of our opinion into the scales against Anvil." I refused to go along with this view. But it became clear that there was no other recourse except to delay the southern attack for a sufficient time to permit ships and craft first to operate in Overlord and then to proceed to the Mediterranean for participation in that battle.

One of the most difficult problems, which invariably accompanies planning for a tactical offensive, involves measures for maintenance, supplies, evacuation, and replacement.

Mountbatten Suggests Artificial Harbors

Since the nature of the defenses to be encountered ruled out the possibility of gaining adequate ports promptly, it was necessary also to provide a means for sheltering beach supply from the effect of storms. We knew that even after we captured Cherbourg its port capacity and the lines of communication leading out of it could not meet all our needs.

To solve this apparently unsolvable problem we undertook a project so unique as to be classed by many scoffers as completely fantastic. It was a plan to construct artificial harbors on the coast of Normandy. The first time I heard this idea tentatively advanced was by Admiral Mountbatten, in the spring of 1942. At a conference attended by a number of service chiefs he remarked, "If ports are not available, we may have to construct them in pieces and tow them in." Hoots and jeers greeted his suggestion, but two years later it was to become reality.

Experience in Mediterranean warfare had demonstrated that each of our reinforced divisions in active operation consumed about 600 to 700 tons of supplies per day. Our maintenance arlogistic organization was Lt.-Gen. John C. H. Lee. He was an engineer officer of long experience, with a reputation for getting things done.

Because of his mannerisms and his stern insistence upon the outward forms of discipline, which he himself meticulously observed, he was considered a martinet by most of his acquaintances. He was determined, correct, and devoted to duty; he had long been known as an effective administrator and as a man of the highest character and religious fervor.

Modern Cromwell Needed for Success

I sometimes felt that he was a modern Cromwell, but I was ready to waive the rigidity of his mannerisms in favor of his constructive qualities. Indeed, I felt it possible that his unyielding methods might be vital to success in an activity where an iron hand is always mandatory.

At a secluded spot in eastern England the British Army constructed every type of tactical obstacle that the German might use in defending against our attack. The British built pillboxes, massive stone walls, and great areas of barbed-wire entanglements. They planted mine fields, erected steel obstacles for underwater and land use, and dug anti-tank ditches. Each of these was a replica of similar defenses we knew the Germans had already installed. Then the British set about the task of designing equipment that would facilitate destruction of these obstacles. They used the area for actual test of the equipment so developed and for trying out new battle techniques.

Senior commanders used every possible moment in visiting and inspecting troops. Records left by a staff officer show that in four months, from Feb. 1 to June 1, I visited 26 divisions, 24 airfields, five ships of war, and numerous depots, shops, hospitals, and other important installations. Bradley, Montgomery, Spaatz, and Tedder maintained similar schedules. Such visits, sandwiched between a seemingly endless series of conferences and staff meetings, were necessary and highly valuable.

Plenty of Enemy Spies in Neutral Eire

As the time came for shifting our concentration toward the ports, the southern portion of England became one vast camp, dump, and airfield. At our request the British Government stopped all traffic between this part of England and the remainder of the United Kingdom and Eire, since enemy spies abounded in neutral Eire.

After the abandonment of the May target date, the next combination of moon, tide, and time of sunrise that we considered practicable for the attack occurred on June 5, 6, and 7.

We wanted to cross the Channel with our convoys at night so that darkness would conceal the strength and direction of our several attacks. We wanted a moon for our airborne assaults. We needed approximately 40 minutes of daylight preceding the ground assault to complete our bombing and preparatory bombardment. We had to attack on a relatively low tide because of beach obstacles, which had to be removed while uncovered. These principal factors dictated the general period; but the selection of the actual day would depend upon weather forecasts.

It was a tense period, made even worse by the fact that the one thing that could give us a disastrous setback was entirely outside our control. Some soldier once said, "The weather is always neutral." Nothing could be more untrue. Bad weather is obviously the enemy of the side that seeks to launch projects requiring good weather, or of the side possessing great assets, such as strong air forces, which depend upon good weather for effective operations.

If really bad weather would endure permanently, the Nazi would need nothing else to defend the Normandy coast!

One of the most dramatic stories of World War II involves General Eisenhower's last-minute decision to use two divisions of paratroopers in the Normandy invasion. His air chief adviser called the plan "futile slaughter." General Eisenhower, one week before D-Day, went to his tent alone and sat down to think over his final decision.

This is one of the stories told for the first time in tomorrow's instalments of "Crusade in Europe," which will be published on two pages of the Magazine Section of The Victoria Daily Times. It was the greatest invasion in the history of warfare, and General Eisenhower tells in the next two instalments what happened in the last few hours before the final great decision was made.

Miss Dorothy Kenward Married On Parents' 30th Anniversary

Choosing the 30th anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. H. Smith, Florence, Ont.

Autumn-toned blossoms decorated the altar and colonial bouquets of chrysanthemums marked pews, for the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. George Biddle.

A lustrous white satin gown, fashioned with old-world elegance, adorned the bride. Her veil of illusion net, enriched with embroidery, was held to the head by a coronet of orange blossoms, and misted floor length, over the full hooped skirt of her gown, flounced at the hemline to show trails of lace. Fresh white carnations and budding pink roses composed her bouquet.

Palest of blue nylon created the gown for honor maid, Miss Margory Symonds, while bridesmaids, Misses Norah and Gwynedd Hughes, wore identical gowns in peach-gold taffeta. Their headdresses, with chapel veils, were in tone with their gowns, and they carried bouquets, colonial style, of chrysanthemums and carnations.

Frederick Chubb presided at the organ. Guests were seated by Maurice Braithwaite and Chris Fawcett. Jack Williams attended as best man.

Oak Bay Beach Hotel was decorated with chrysanthemums and autumn greenery for the reception. Mrs. Kenward, choosing a blue crepe gown for the occasion, and Mrs. M. Dickson, aunt of the groom, wearing aqua crepe, received guests with the justweds. The triple-tiered cake, made by the bride's mother, was flanked with white tapers and pastel-toned flowers. Ivan Rowell gave the toast.

Frank Dunn, who sang

"Through the Years" while the church register was signed, sang "Because" at the wedding reception.

For the honeymoon trip, by motor, in United States, the bride changed to a three-piece blue gabled ensemble, accessories in navy, and corsage bouquet of gardenias and pink rosebuds. Completing her ensemble, she wore a necklace of Russian squirrel.

'Lulu Belle' Opens On Dominion Screen

Columbia's "Lulu Belle," co-starring Dorothy Lamour and George Montgomery, opens at the Dominion Theatre today. The film, based on the play by Charles MacArthur and Edward Sheldon produced by David Belasco, is the exciting story of a tempestuous siren in the New Orleans and New York of the early 1900's. Albert Dekker, Otto Kruger, Glenda Farrell and Greg McClure head the featured cast. Leslie Fenton directed this Benedict Bogeaus production.

CAPITOL THEATRE

"Key Largo," Warner Bros.' newest dramatic masterpiece, is keyed to excitement. This filmization of Maxwell Anderson's celebrated stage play, which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre, is top-league fare all the way down. Five stars, Humphrey Bogart, Edward G. Robinson, Lauren Bacall, Lionel Barrymore and Claire Trevor, top the cast, which gives off sparks by itself. John Huston, remembered for "Treasure of the Sierra Madre," has directed it, which is another distinctive item. In short "Key Largo" has everything!

ATLAS THEATRE

Henry Fonda is more active on the motion picture screen currently than at any time since he went to Hollywood 14-years ago.

Casting directors formerly put him in country-boy roles, insisting that he was a Charles Ray type, and just as regularly he fought to portray dramatic characters instead.

Recently he has been achieving this objective. He got one powerful role in "The Oxbow Incident" and another in "The Long Night," followed that with the part of the priest in Argosy Pictures' "The Fugitive." Now in "Fort Apache," currently at the Atlas Theatre, he feels he's really established himself as a dramatic actor. His "Fort Apache" role is that of an egotistical cavalry officer whose ambition brings him and his men to disaster.

PLAZA THEATRE

Ninety-eight per cent of Columbia's fury-swept desert drama, "Thunderhoof," now at the Plaza Theatre, was shot outdoors on location in southern California. The lone interior set, representing a deserted ranch house, took up three sound stages at the studio. Preston Foster, Mary Stuart and William Bishop comprise the entire cast of the picture.

British Cabinet Gets Report As To Eire's Intentions

LONDON (Reuter)—The Lord Chancellor, Viscount Jowitt, and Philip Noel-Baker, Commonwealth Relations Secretary, are understood to have reported to the cabinet today on this week's Paris talks concerning Eire's relationship to the Commonwealth.

Representatives of Britain, Eire, Canada, Australia and New Zealand took part in the conferences, concluded Wednesday.

One of their main purposes was to bring out the full legal and constitutional implications of Eire's decision to repeal the External Affairs Act—her last link with the Commonwealth.

The Eire Parliament Wednesday gave first reading to the bill which is to repeal the act.

The British government is expected to tell Parliament soon what contribution, if any, the Paris talks have made to solving the problems.

YORK THEATRE

Sir Cedric Hardwicke was born at Lye, in Worcestershire, Eng., in 1893.

He began his professional career as an understudy. He toured the provinces and South Africa, and was in Africa when World War I broke out. After the war he organized concert parties until he was demobilized, when he joined the Birmingham Repertory Company, with Sir Barry Jackson. They went to London and there Hardwicke began to make a name for himself. He flew from Hollywood specially to play Ralph Nickleby in "Nicholas Nickleby," now being shown at the York Theatre.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Teresa Wright vaults to great dramatic heights in her portrayal of Thor in "Pursued," a United States Pictures production released by Warner Bros. Co-starring with Miss Wright in the unforgettable saga of the old southwest is Robert Mitchum. The new film, currently at the Oak Bay, presents Judith Anderson, Dean Jagger, Alan Hale and, in his initial screen role, John Rodney in important supporting roles.

Queen Victoria Ballet Revived

It is only fitting and proper that Victoria should have an opportunity to see the revived "Pas de Quatre" when the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo is seen here for two performances, matinee and evening, at the Royal Victoria next Monday.

Just 105 years ago, in July of 1845, at a special command performance on the stage of His Majesty's Theatre, London, the four leading ballerinas of the day appeared in the specially produced "Pas de Quatre" before Queen Victoria. The ballerinas were Taglioni, Grisi, Cerito and Grann. This quartette became the inspiration for the most famous of Chalon's lithographs.

This year this famed "Pas de Quatre" was revived by Anton Dolin for the 10th anniversary season of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, and it will be seen in Victoria at the evening performance which the company will present here.

On this occasion the quartette of rival ballerinas will be re-enacted by Alexandra Danilova, Nathalie Krassovska, Ruthanna Boris and Gertrude Tyven. The competitive rivalry between the four dancers lends hilarity to the ballet, and makes it a most exciting reproduction of a Period Piece in the art of The Dance.

Island Coal Output Shows Slight Gain Over October, 1947

A slight gain in coal production on Vancouver Island last month over the previous October was recorded today by the Provincial Mines Department.

Production of all collieries in the province, however, was less than in October, 1947.

The report showed B.C. production last month at 134,372 long tons. This compared with 138,314 long tons produced in October, 1947. On Vancouver Island last month coal mines raised 40,000 long tons, compared with 39,955 long tons for the previous October.

Chief island producers with last month's production figures in long tons followed by the corresponding production were: Comox Colliery, 15,371 (15,681); Tsable River Mine, 3,766 (86); No. 10 Mine, South Wellington, 15,803 (18,379); and White Rapids Mine, 4,062 (4,754).

In the East Kootenay district production last month totaled 85,297 tons, compared with 95,775 tons during the previous October. The loss was attributed to the shutdown of Corbin Colliery which in October, 1947, produced 13,998 tons.

Output of mines in the Nicola-Princeton area totaled 7,060 tons last month, against 4,054 tons in October, 1947. Coal mines in the northern district produced 1,975 tons last month, against 1,530 tons in October, 1947.

Give Resolutions To Cabinet Dec. 1

Mayor Percy George, president of the B.C. Union of Municipalities, said today the executive will hold a meeting at the Parliament Buildings Dec. 1, and will be given a hearing by Premier Johnson and the provincial cabinet.

The meeting with the cabinet will be for the purpose of presenting resolutions pertaining to provincial-municipal matters which were passed at the annual convention recently.

Changes In B.C. Telephone Personnel

R. W. J. ANGUS

T. P. WATERS

The B.C. Telephone Company has announced the appointment of R. W. J. Angus, former district sales manager at Vancouver, to succeed T. P. Waters as district commercial manager at Victoria, with commercial jurisdiction over the company's entire Vancouver Island territory.

The appointment becomes effective on Dec. 31 when Mr. Waters retires on pension after 36 years with the company.

Mr. Waters' retirement will end a telephone career which began in Vancouver in 1912. Three years later he was transferred to Victoria where he has remained since, with the exception of service with the Canadian army during World War I.

Active in lodge and club circles Mr. Waters is past master of Vancouver and Quadra No. 2 Masonic Lodge, and past first principal Royal Arch Masons Columbia Chapter No. 1. He is also a past president of the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Angus joined the B.C. Telephone Company in Vancouver in 1925, after three years in the banking business. During the next 20 years he gained valuable experience in various phases of commercial telephone work, becoming district sales manager at Vancouver in 1945. He was born in England, came to Canada in 1907 and was educated at Moose Jaw and Vancouver.

Up-Town Move For Pioneer Company To $18,000 Offices

Rithets Consolidated Limited, one of the city's oldest business firms, is abandoning offices at 1117 Wharf Street which it has occupied since its formation in 1871 in favor of modern, up-to-date premises planned at 710 Fort Street.

A building permit was issued to David W. Burnett, contractor, by J. W. Oosterink, city building inspector today, to convert the street floor of 710 Fort Street, formerly the Ritz Hotel, into the company's new headquarters.

Rithets is a real estate, insurance and finance company.

The new Rithets' offices will have 28-foot frontage on the north side of Fort Street, just east of Douglas Street. The premises will be L-shaped extending back from the street 70 feet on one side.

Architects for the modernization of the building are Birley, Wade and Stockhill.

Work will be started next week.

A second major downtown building change was authorized today also, and Mr. Burnett is the contractor in this case as well.

He was issued a permit to carry out $12,000 alterations to the Rio Theatre at 1311 Government Street. The theatre will have a new front, new projection room and an additional rear fire exit. Work on the project has been started.

A third change in business premises for which a permit was issued today is to a store at 1848 Oak Bay Avenue. Value of the work to be done is estimated at $1,000.

At Barleythorpe, Rutland, the home of the late Earl of Lonsdale, is to become a hostel for elderly people.

U.K. Educationist Visits City Schools

After studying Greater Victoria's educational set-up, Mervin W. Pritchard, educational attaché to the British Embassy in Washington, D.C., left Thursday night for Vancouver.

Mr. Pritchard, who is traveling the U.S. to survey educational systems in the various states took advantage of a western trip to visit British Columbia and study the educational systems in Victoria and Vancouver.

A man in his early 40s, Mr. Pritchard is a graduate of Manchester University in classics and education. In 1939 he was awarded a traveling scholarship to the U.S. but, because of the war, was unable to come to the U.S. under the scholarship until 1946. Prior to receiving the scholarship, he was an inspector of schools in England.

His present post with the British Embassy at the U.S. capitol, calls on him to encourage exchange of teachers and students between the U.S. and Great Britain, and, at the same time, to study the educational systems throughout the U.S.

Alberni Demands Alternate Route

Alberni City Council passed a resolution following Sunday's storm, which resulted in the blocking of Alberni Road, demanding that the provincial government take immediate action on an alternate route from the Alberni Valley.

As soon as communications are restored, the City Council resolution will be handed to Public Works Minister E. C. Carson. Official opening of the new courthouse which was to have been held Friday has been postponed.

Report Skiing At Forbidden Plateau

Recent snowfalls up-island have made it possible for skiing enthusiasts to participate in their favorite pastime at the Forbidden Plateau, it was learned from Bob Morrison, program director at the Y.M.C.A., today.

Mr. Morrison said that he has received several telephone calls from persons inquiring when the "Y" skiing trips will be resumed, but the first organized trip will not be held until mid-January. Morrison also stated that Larry Winters of Port Angeles is in town today and is trying to arrange skiing trips to the Olympics for local enthusiasts. Mr. Winters said that a new lodge has recently been built there.

Ski Season Delayed Until After Dec. 15

Ski-minded Victorians now eyeing the Olympics will be a little disappointed with today's report by George Paulin, agent for the Black Ball Line, who has been informed that Deer Park skiing area in the Olympics across the straits will not be open for skiing until after Dec. 15.

Right now, there is only about six inches of snow on the Deer Park slopes and the experts think this may melt before another snowfall.

This year Deer Park Lodge will be operated by National Park Concessions Inc., and managed by John Savage. Two ski tows will be run at the recreation area, one in the lower meadow and one to the upper slope.

A black and white cartoon illustration. In the foreground, a woman with dark, curly hair sits in a striped armchair, reading a newspaper. She has a long, pointed nose and a somewhat weary expression. On the floor next to her, a man with a large nose and a mustache lies on his back, also reading a newspaper. A sign on the wall behind the woman reads "EPSOPP SALTS M.D." in a stylized font. To the right, a nurse in a traditional uniform and cap stands behind a counter, looking on. The scene is filled with wavy lines representing sound or movement. At the bottom of the illustration, the text "©1984 THE KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC. WORLD RIGHTS RESERVED" is printed.

Mount View Activities

In sports, Mount View's senior soccer team took first place with Vic High I and Oak Bay Greens in the league by downing Esquimalt, 5 to 1. The team suffered a 3 to 2 defeat at the hands of Oak Bay Whites, and came back to take an exhibition game with Mount Newton, 5 to 2. The junior basketballers went down to a 34 to 17 defeat by Esquimalt. The Mount View girls' grass hockey team also were outplayed by a strong Oak Bay team leaving the score at 4 to 0.

All clubs in the school are doing well. The Drama Club has made progress in the selection of plays to be presented at assemblies.

The prefect control system has been put into operation and has been quite successful. The co-operation of the student body is the basic condition necessary for the smooth functioning of this system.

Ticket sales for the carnival on Dec. 3 have been progressing well. In all departments the program for the carnival is well advanced.

Tragedy has struck Mount View, through the death of Miss Miriam S. Lowe. All who knew her were impressed by her kind-heartedness. Her sympathy and interest in problems of students will be remembered by many. Miss Lowe was always ready to listen to and help any person who came near her. The student body and staff of Mount View wishes to extend the deepest sympathy and condolence to relatives and friends of Miss Lowe, and to join them in remembrance of her many virtues.

Barbara Oakley of Mount View High School received a high ranking award for her job analysis. The subject she chose was weaving.

Institutes Open Conference Here Tonight To Discuss Asia In 1948

Eleventh annual conference of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs and the American Institute of Pacific Relations will open at the Empress Hotel at 8 this evening with an address of welcome by Mayor Percy George.

The conference will seek a postwar evaluation of Asia in 1948 and discussions will be held at two round tables, one economic and the other political.

Chairman of the economic round table will be C. A. Clements, of the Victoria branch of the C.I.A., and Dr. R. B. Allen, president of Washington University, will be chairman of the political round table.

The economic round table discussion will centre on four points:

1. Revival of markets of Asia,

Australia and New Zealand.

2. Prospects for private enterprise in Asia.

3. Functions of exchange controls in the Philippines, India, China and Australia.

4. Attitude of Canada and the U.S. toward development of Japanese and Russian fisheries.

ALLIED POLICY IN JAPAN
The political round table discussion will also be based on four main points:

1. The allied powers' occupation policy in Japan, with respect to demilitarization, democratization, radical economic and social reforms, and conclusion of the peace treaty.

2. Reactions of China and the U.S.S.R. to U.S. policy toward Japan.

3. Changes which have taken place during the last year in the political situation in Indo-China, Siam, Burma, Malaya, Indonesia and the Philippines.

4. Methods by which the United Nations, through its councils and special agencies, can assist in peaceful development of China, Japan, Korea and southeast Asia.

Following opening of the conference this evening, the two round tables will meet from 9:30 to 12 Saturday morning and again from 2 to 4:30 in the afternoon.

A conference dinner will be held at 7 in the evening with William P. Hunt of New York as one of the speakers.

On Sunday, the round tables will meet again from 10 in the morning to 12 noon, and a luncheon will be held at 1 in the afternoon at which reports of the round table discussions will be presented.

Asks Percentage Of 'Permanents' Raised In Federal Service

A resolution against the proposal to make permanent 20 per cent only of those federal civil servants now on the temporary staff and a request that the number be raised to 50 per cent was passed at a meeting of the Esquimalt Branch of the Canadian Legion.

The resolution stated that the proposal to move only one-fifth of the present temporary staff into the permanent category was not considered in the best interests of the service.

Endorsement was given to a motion to request that the Legion inter-provincial committee on education include in its program for next year a study of standards in British and Canadian schools.

It was felt that some civil servants had been unjustly penalized because their schooling in Britain was not fully understood in Canada and often a person could not get full credit for courses taken.

Other business at the meeting included appointment of Alec Kilpatrick and R. Brophy to arrange a New Year's dance, and G. A. MacDonald, J. E. Carey and T. Sewell as a committee to handle the children's Christmas tree party.

A vote of thanks to the three services and the R.C.M.P. was moved for their co-operation in helping to make the Remembrance Day service at Esquimalt Memorial Park a success.

Members were requested to turn out for a working party on the building on Saturday.

Civil Servants' Chief To Give Radio Address

F. J. Whitehouse, Dominion president of the Federated Civil Servants' Association, will speak tonight at 8:30 over a coast-to-coast radio hook-up, to explain reasons of the association for taking up with the federal cabinet the matter of granting a cost-of-living bonus to all Dominion government civil servants.

Car And Garage Destroyed By Fire In Brentwood Area

A 1938 model coupe automobile was totally destroyed and the garage housing it with two storage rooms was extensively damaged along with contents, in a fire on Lawrence Road, Brentwood district, which Saanich No. 2 Firehall attended early this morning.

This was the property of William Warren. The owner, asleep in the house which is separate from the garage, was awakened by crackling sounds made by the fire. He immediately sent firemen in charge of Lieut. Tom Moss found the fire had been going for a considerable time when they arrived. They managed to put out the flames to save a portion of the building and contents. Stored in the rooms of the garage were South African relics and antiques, a gun collection and other things.

Firemen were on the job until 7:20. It was the biggest fire this hall has attended since it was opened earlier in the year. Equipment brought along to get water to fight the blaze was two portable pumps. One was used to pump water from the truck and the other was used in the saltchuck.

Damage to the structure was figured by firemen at about $1,500.

Dr. W. Kaye Lamb To Speak In City

Dr. William Kaye Lamb, who was for six years provincial librarian and archivist at the Parliament Buildings here, who is now librarian at the University of B.C., and who will take over duties as Dominion archivist in Ottawa on Jan. 1, will be in Victoria to address meetings on Nov. 29 and 30.

On the first date, Dr. Lamb will speak before a meeting of the Victoria Branch, University Extension Association, at 8:15 in Victoria College. The following evening he will address a meeting of the B.C. Historical Society in the Provincial Library.

On both occasions, his address will be "Empress to the Orient," a subject dealing with the C.P.R.'s trans-Pacific service of prewar days.

First H.B.C. Permit For Big Addition

The city building inspector today issued Commonwealth Construction Company a permit covering major construction of the Hudson's Bay Company store addition.

The permit sets value of the work at $820,000. Cost of the completed building, furnished, is estimated at $2,000,000. The permit issued today does not include electrical work which is expected to cost in the vicinity of $100,000.

Work on the addition has been started. Excavations are being dug. The addition will be a duplicate of the present building, and will extend in an easterly direction off the present store.

To Make Plans For Attracting Tourists

Planning of an advertising campaign which will increase the flow of tourist traffic to British Columbia and the neighboring American states will be the foremost issue to come up at the annual meeting of the Evergreen Playground Association to be held Dec. 4 in Vancouver.

Victorians who will attend the meeting as representatives of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau are W. J. Clark, president; George I. Warren, secretary, and G. H. Stevens.

Must Stand Trial On Charge Of Rape

Norman E. Ferguson, 319½ Pandora Avenue, was committed for trial by Magistrate H. C. Hall at the conclusion of his preliminary hearing Thursday afternoon in Saanich police court on a charge of rape.

In the witness stand a young married woman said accused threw her into a ditch on Irma Street and assaulted her at about 12:30 on the morning of Nov. 5. She said Ferguson told her he was not safe for a girl to go alone.

Games in the intermediate soccer loop tomorrow will bring together Eagles and Douglas Tire at Heywood Avenue, and Victoria Golds and Saanich Indians at Lower Beacon Hill Park. Both tilt start at 2:30.

Early Completion Of Stadium To Depend On Success Of Carnival

Stalls of delicious home cooking, novelties, knitted goods, toys, games, books, artcraft, hobby-craft and other miscellaneous articles will be offered for sale at reasonable prices at the mammoth circus and bazaar which will be held at the Victoria High School on the nights of Dec. 3 and 4. All proceeds from the two-day affair will go directly toward the completion of the Memorial Stadium.

Committee chairman Lawrence J. Wallace reports that $6,000 is required in order to complete the second unit of the project, and school officials are hoping to raise at least half that amount at the carnival. Wallace stated that if the intake from this affair is sufficient, he expects the stadium will be officially completed and the opening will take place early next spring.

Although inclement weather conditions have delayed work considerably this week, the first unit of the project is almost ready for the laying of the wooden seats, after which the job will be complete.

Idea of the bazaar and circus was first started during the war with all proceeds handed over to the Junior Red Cross. H. D. Dee, vice-principal of the school and chief organizer of the circus, announced that during those years, the project was so well received by the public that it is expected it will be a great aid in raising the necessary funds to complete the stadium.

In addition to the various stalls, there will be games of chance, novelty shows and probably a musical show in the auditorium as has been the practice during previous bazaars of this type. Another department expected to be well patronized will be the refreshment stall, which will handle hot dogs, doughnuts, coffee and milk, which is under the convensership of Miss M. Johnson.

Other staff members aiding in the project are Miss Cameron, in charge of signs and posters, and D. Wallis and N. Swainson, who will supervise the construction of the various booths and stalls.

B.C. Seeks Tenders On Okanagan Project

The provincial works department today called tenders for the construction of six and one-half miles of the Okanagan Highway.

The project is between Mile 30.50 and Mile 36.96 and the deposit asked by the department indicates that it may cost $300,000.

Tenders will be received up to noon next Monday.

Big Four Grid Squad Dominated By Imports

By JACK MITCHELL

TORONTO (CP)—United States domination of the Canadian football scene was underscored today when announcement of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union's annual all-star team showed U.S. imports captured seven of the 12 positions.

Football writers and coaches in the league's four cities, who selected the team for the Canadian Press, chose seven players from the Big Four champion Ottawa Roughriders. Montreal Alouettes took four berths while Joe (Mr. Football) Krol won the lone position for the league's fallen champions, Toronto Argonauts.

The selectors didn't even give a nod to Hamilton Wildcats, who chalked up only one victory and a tie in their first Big Four season. The voting was weighted to provide equal voting strength for each of the four cities represented in the league.

The all-stars:
Flying wing — Tony Golab, Roughriders.
Half — Virgil Wagner, Alouettes.

Half — Joe Krol, Argonauts.
Half (secondary defence) — Howie Turner, Roughriders.
Quarter — Bob Paffrath, Roughriders.

Sport Stars Of Yesteryear Gather At J.B.A.A. Reunion

Going back a few years, city sports followers should recognize some of these former sport greats who gathered at the J.B.A.A. reunion banquet at Colwood Golf Club last night. Standing, left to right, Joe Mitchell, Joe Dakers, "Cotton" Brynjolfson, Campbell Sanson, George Simpson, J. R. McIlreath, Bob MacLachlan, John Johnson, Harold Colpman and Bill Huxtable; sitting, Angus McInnes, Roy Gray (a visitor from Halifax), James Bland, "Louie" Young, Bill Moresby and "Doc" Webster.

Hamilton-Ottawa Set For East Grid Final

OTTAWA (CP)—Big Four champions, Ottawa Roughriders, will drive forward today in their final training session before the crucial match of strength against the Hamilton Tigers begins.

They are showing no signs of nervousness, says manager Jimmy McCaffrey, but they know they'll need plenty of punch to crush the big aerial attack expected from the Ontario Rugby Football champions tomorrow.

The Riders — who opened the training week in easy stages — completed a sharp full-dress rehearsal yesterday of what they believe will take place in tomorrow's push for the eastern Canadian championship.

McCaffrey says the boys are striving for perfection in their own aerial offensive with the hope of more than matching the big show expected from playing-coach Frank Filchook.

Meanwhile, the battle of the ducaus continues and McCaffrey says he hopes to have another 800 tickets to go on sale today. These are part of the 1,500 tickets allotted to the Tigers — and complaints from the Tigers fans are confirmed — these are by no means the best seats in the house.

At Hamilton, more than 1,200 rabid football fans packed Ottawa-bound trains from Hamilton today.

Tigers are due to arrive in the capital in time for a final workout tonight at Lansdowne Park.

It's the first eastern championship final for the Bengals since 1935 when they beat Sarnia Imperials for eastern honors and lost the Dominion title to Winnipeg.

Club officials said there were no injuries and the whole squad is in top physical condition.

Final games on the schedule are billed next Thursday. The dockyarders visit Vic High Blacks in the feature game, and a win for the city squad would tie the squads for top honors. Golds could also reach first place with a victory over Mount View.

In a game at the Fernwood Road gym, Blacks dumped the fourth-place Mount View squad.

Ike Williams Scores Fourth-Round K.O.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Lightweight champion Ike Williams pounded Billy Nixon into submission in 1.49 of the fourth round of a scheduled eight-round non-title fight last night. Williams weighed 139, Nixon 142.

Williams floored Nixon three times, twice in the third round and once in the fourth.

It was Williams' 19th successive victory and his second non-title conquest in a week.

A crowd of 4,400 paid $7,985 to see the fight.

Vic High Cage Squads Threaten Loop Leader

43 to 16. Winners were aggressors all the way, but Saanichites showed their best form in the second quarter. Half-time score was 14 to 6 for Victoria High. Jacklin with 13 points and Bill Garner and Norman Forbes with 10 each paced the city squad's attack.

BIG LEAD

Out at the Oak Bay auditorium, Vic High Golds downed the home team, 31 to 21, after holding a commanding 18 to 5 half-time lead. Paced by Nelson Crisp who went through for eight points in the third frame, Bays moved back into contention, closing the margin, 26 to 17 at the three-quarter mark, but Vic High proved too strong in the finale.

In a third game, Central Junior High closed out its schedule with a win by trouncing the cellar-dwelling Mount Douglas quintette, 44 to 24.

Teams and scores follow:

Blacks — Anderson 2, Dawes, Garner 10, Barker, Gregg, Chow 4, Jacklin 13, Abbott, Jackman 2, Howard, Forbes 10, R. Clark, B. Clark 2, Kirchner.

Mount View — Windle 4, W. Cunningham, M. Cunningham 2, Sager, Peasland 9, Stoller, Sidwell 2, Patt 2, Knudsen.

Oak Bay — Lynn 2, Shaw, Velich, Barnes 2, Williams 3, Priestley, B. Smith 3, C. Smith 2, Crisp 10, Francis.

Golds — Woollett, Mar 5, Pynn, Peterson 2, Shields 6, Zary 4, Marks, McMillan 4, Malbert 2, Lere 4, Robertson.

Olympic Setup In Canada Scored By Avery Brundage

U.S., Canadian Hockey Teams Going To Sweden

NEW YORK (CP)—A team representing the U.S. Amateur Hockey Association will sail Dec. 28 at the same time as a Canadian entry to take part in the World Hockey Championship at Stockholm, Feb. 6-13, it was announced Thursday.

A.H.A. President Tom Lockhart said "tryouts for the American team, for which only United States citizens are eligible, will start next Monday in Boston. The United States team will comprise 14 players. Manager Vern Thomas of Baltimore and Coach Jack Riley of Boston. Lockhart said the United States team was expected to sail on the same boat as the Canadian team. It had been hoped that the two teams would play exhibition games in the United States before the tour but it had not been possible to arrange for a rink.

Canada's R.C.A.F. Flyers last winter won the Olympic hockey title but earlier were beaten out by Czechoslovakia for the world championship title in Prague.

Lockhart said the 1950 world championships will be held in the United States. The competition is under the auspices of the Ligue Internationale De Hockey Sur Glace, an organization comprising representatives from 20 countries.

In addition to the world championships, the United States team will play exhibitions in England, Scotland, France, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia. The squad will be chosen primarily from the players who were named to the A.H.A. all-star team last year.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The Canadian Olympic Association, set up as a committee of the American Athletic Union, is 30 years behind the United States.

That was the word passed today by Avery Brundage, U.S. Olympic committee chairman, in an interview shortly before his scheduled departure to Chicago after a one-day "all-expenses-paid" visit here at the invitation of city council.

East-West Junior Grid Final Finds Hamilton Favored

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Saskatoon Hilltops, the pride of the west, arrive here today for the first official east-west junior football final since 1932.

More than 4,000 people are expected to see the game Saturday between the western champions and Hamilton Wildcats who battered their way past the champions of both the Quebec and Ontario Rugby Football Unions to the eastern title.

Wildcats wound up training Thursday night while Hilltops will work out for two hours today in Civic Stadium, scene of the clash tomorrow.

It will be the first resumption of the east-west classic since 1932 when the University of Toronto beat Moose Jaw for the title. The Canadian Rugby Union junior title series was discontinued after Toronto Argonauts won an all-eastern final in 1933.

Former westerners living in Hamilton lined up a round of entertainment for the first Saskatoon club ever to reach a Dominion football final. Tonight both clubs will be the guests of a Hamilton theatre manager and Sunday they'll drive to Niagara Falls.

Although there was no measuring stick to judge the two clubs, coach Fred Veale and club officials said they were confident the Wildcats would win.

All entries for the Christmas tournament of the Britannia Branch, No. 7, carpet bowlers and the women's auxiliary bowlers must be filed no later than tonight, officials stated today.

"About 30 years ago a separate Olympic committee was set up in the United States, taking in every organization that had anything to do with amateur sport," he said. "The committee has charge of trials, selecting teams, managers and coaches."

"Those interested in each individual Olympic sport have full control in picking our team. Every organization has a voice in its own particular sport and everybody is happy about it."

Brundage's remarks were especially timely in view of the present squabble between the Canadian Olympic Association and the A.A.U. The question of the C.O.A. divorcing itself from the A.A.U. is down for debate at closing sessions of the union's three-day annual meeting and a lively discussion is expected.

Today's meeting probably will be occupied with discussion of reports by various committees but major topics amongst delegates appeared to be decision of the meeting Thursday to ease regulations concerning amateurs.

AMATEURISM

A resolution was approved declaring that athletes who compete with or against professionals in sports not under A.A.U. jurisdiction would "suffer no penalty." Previously, athletes were liable to suspension for intermingling with the pros.

Some delegates said the practice of intermingling has been "going on for years" without penalty and that the resolution doesn't "rid sport of amateurism." Others took the view it was "just what amateur sport needs."

Playoff Fever Hits Calgary Grid Fans

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary grid fans today laid plans for a mass "invasion" of Toronto by both rail and air in support of Calgary Stampede's bid for Grey Cup laurels.

Swept along on the wave of enthusiasm generated by the hard-charging cowboys' undefeated march to the western Canadian football championship, fans were reported besieging both rail and air line officials for accommodation to the Canadian final at Toronto Varsity Stadium Nov. 27.

Not since Calgary's hockey Stampede won the Allan Cup in 1946 has anything captured the imagination of Calgary sport fans to such an extent as the city's first bid in all history for the equally historic Grey Cup.

A special train carrying 250 fans already is scheduled to leave here Tuesday night for the Ontario capital. Air line officials with reported a 21-passenger plane has been chartered by another group of fans, confident they will be given the opportunity of per-

BIG SEND-OFF

Meanwhile Stampede were rolling eastward today following a rousing send-off last night from hundreds of gridiron faithful who jammed the platform and rotunda of the C.P.R. station.

Stampede's 27 strong and all wearing 10-gallon Stetsons and colorful red and white cowboys' shirts—were forced to push their way through the crowd of well-wishers to board the train. They will finish off their training at Oakville, Ont.

The remaining two members of the Stamp line-up—Coach Les Lear and quarterback Keith Spait—were scheduled to arrive in Ottawa later today. Together with club president Tom Brook, they will scout the eastern final Saturday between Ottawa's Roughriders and Hamilton Tigers.

Official World Series Film Fails To Show Crucial Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Sports columnist Jimmy Powers of the Daily News says that the controversial Feller-to-Boudreau pick-off play at second base in the first game of the world series will not appear in the official movies of the series.

Ford Frick, president of the National League, said he didn't know whether or not movies of the play had been made or included in the official film.

"I've never seen the film," Frick said. "I do know that there was absolutely no censorship of it by anybody."

Any report to the contrary, he said, "is strictly an untruth."

Powers writes:

"We would like to believe Frick's protestation that he did not censoring of the 1948 film and the blame, if any, should be laid on the doorstep of another employee, Lew Fonseca. But the record plainly shows Frick has been guilty of censorship and high-handed acts in the past. The most notable was his attempted gagging of Dizzy Dean."

Fonseca is director of the major leagues' motion picture division which made the official movies.

Powers continued: "Now we go to Fonseca who says, 'In my 14 years of making movies both league presidents have always left everything to my judgment.'"

SHOT TAKEN

"When pressed as to the existence of film showing the play he conceded: 'It so happens that I do have a wide angle shot of this particular play.' He adds that it does not bring out the details 'that one would find if a telephoto lens had caught the play.' So, he is not going to use it."

"So, then, there is a movie of the play from a modern wide-angle lens, but it will not be shown because, in Mr. Fonseca's judgment, it does not bring out the details a telephoto lens would bring out. What is there left for the average fan to think? Obviously, the wide-angle footage is distasteful to Mr. Fonseca. Fans might look at it and feel Umpire (Bill) Stewart had made a mistake."

"We would like to bet, that if the film showed the umpire was correct in his call, it would be in the official movie."

The play occurred in the eighth inning. Stewart, a National League umpire and a former National Hockey League referee, called runner Phil Masi of Boston safe. Masi later scored the only run of the game.

All-Star Benefit Soccer To Replace United Match

There will be no Pacific Coast Soccer League match here tomorrow. This announcement was made by officials of the Victoria United after receiving a phone call from secretary Bill Findler yesterday.

In its place, the senior league all-star battle between the city and suburbs, originally billed for Sunday, will be played at Athletic Park, starting at 2:15.

United secretary Ed McKenzie stated that complicated circumstances has forced the cancellation of the Coast soccer tilt, which will have to be straightened out with the soccer commission.

The United-Vancouver City

match has been thrown out as it could not have had any bearing on the standings, and officials had hoped to bill an Anderson Cup match instead. However, it was finally decided to commence second-half play, but this would mean that the locals would have to face St. Andrews as North Shore is engaging Vancouver City.

United officials decided that the squad is not prepared to meet the Scots, and feel that a longer layoff would benefit the squad considerably.

Tomorrow's match, being a benefit affair, is expected to draw the usual Saturday afternoon crowd and will be a great asset to swell the League of Rose's Polio Fund.

Reg Clarke, secretary of the Victoria and District Association, announced some changes in line-up for the exhibition. Roy Bland and Ray Oliver will be added to the City all-star squad, along with Henry Slater and Len Scott. Arnold Ferguson will also be in strip for the district eleven.

Juvenile Soccer Leaders Prove Strong Defensively

Leading teams in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association are proving that for best results a strong defence is the thing.

Starting with the first division where Heaney's lead with three wins and two ties and ending with the fifth division where Knights of Pythias hold the edge with five straight victories, every league leader is strong defensively.

Heaney's have only had one goal scored against them in league play while the same record holds true for K. of P. and Carey's, fourth division pacemakers.

Grenek's, kingspins of the second division, have yet to be scored on this year while Tillums, third division leaders, have had their goals against record marred twice.

Offensively Grenek's also hold the edge with 18 goals in four games. Carey's have scored 20 in five games and K. of P. 21 in the same number of matches.

Week-end schedule for juvenile teams follows:

Saturday—Division III, Pacific Meat vs. Esquimalt Merchants, Beacon Hill; Division IV, St. Louis College vs. Carey's, Heywood Avenue; Division V, Golden Loaf Bakery vs. K. of P., Central Park; Y.M.C.A. vs. Clarke's Athletics, High School. All games start at 1.

Sunday—Division I, Veterans of France vs. Esquimalt A.A., Beacon Hill; Jubilee Pharmacy vs. Heaney's, Windsor Park; Division II, Pacific Meat vs. Sea Cadets, High School. All games start at 2.

TIP No. 53

UNPLAYABLE BALL IN A STROKE COMPETITION

The score card which reads "Lost and Unplayable Ball—Stroke and Distance," is definitely wrong as regards unplayable ball in a stroke competition. I remember once seeing a pro hit an exceptionally long ball which, as there was a slight draw on it, finished up in an unplayable lie in some rocks just off the fairway. He lifted the ball and, keeping the place where the ball had been between himself and the hole, teed up on a peg and hit another tremendous shot with his driver. It was a long hole but he nearly got on the green and got a 6 including two penalty strokes. If he had gone back to the teeing ground and played his third (as he had the option of doing) he would probably have taken a 7 for the hole. That pro knew the rules. See Stroke Rule 11, "a ball may be lifted from any place on the course," etc.

N.B.—This rule does not apply to match play. See Rule 22 for "Lost and Unplayable Ball."

A peg may be used in teeing the ball. Decision, R.C.G.A. There is no penalty if the player drops his ball, R.C.G.A.

Bays Shoot For First Rugby Win Tomorrow

Remainder of the first half schedule of the first division rugby league is just a matter of formalities as the Victoria College entry has clinched the honors, currently topping the second-place Canadian Scottish squad by five points.

Tomorrow's game brings together the Scots and J.B.A.A. with the latter rated as underdogs according to league play thus far.

The association crew have only gained a single point in first half play, and will sorely be needing the points in an effort to regain the prestige they once held—that of being the most feared aggregation in the senior loop.

Meanwhile, the soldiers have a different view on the subject, and will be out to sink the James Bay crew deeper in the mire, and thus stand a better chance of ending closer to the unbeatable students. Game will be played at Macdonald Park, starting at 2:30.

A second division match between Fifth Regiment and J.B.A.A. is also billed for Macdonald Park, while out at Royal Roads, the home club will play host to Naden.

Victoria College Vikings and Oak Bay Wanderers of the third division will see action at Windsor Park and Naden and Canadian Scottish will tangle at the former's home field.
